The avenue route from Nairobi runs by means of Narok to Sekenani gate, roughly 5 to six hours depending on site visitors and highway conditions. The drive descends the Rift Valley escarpment and crosses the Loita plains.

The last stretch is rough, surprisingly after rain. A 4x4 is more secure and faster than a saloon or a worn-out minivan.

Most itineraries cease in Narok for lunch and promises. Gate formalities can take twenty minutes, so arrival time impacts how tons sunlight hours continues to Masai Mara Lake Nakuru combined safari be for a primary power. For visitors at risk of motion illness, the escarpment bends are the worst aspect. Road versus fly-in contrast is at %LINK%.
