Plinko first gained widespread fame as a rates game on the tv show The Price Is Right in 1983. Created by Frank Wayne and directed by Marc Breslow, the game was named after the sound the plastic chips made as they bounced off the pegs--"plink, plink, plink."

The facility was easy: contestants would make "Plinko chips" by determining the proper prices of small household items. When made, they would climb a ladder and release the chips from the top of a big, vertical board embedded with dozens of pegs. Online gambling establishments have adapted the traditional format, enabling gamers to customize the volatility and the risk-to-reward ratio of their sessions.

Secret Mechanics of Digital Plinko

1. Positioning: The player selects where to drop the ball from the top of the pyramid.
2. The Bounce: The ball takes a trip through a series of pegs, moving unpredictably to the left or right.
3. The Payout: The ball lands in a slot at the bottom, which is appointed a multiplier based upon the distance from the center.

|---------------|------------|---------------------------|---------------|
| Low    | Minimal    | Small (0.5 x-- 3x)        | Very High     |
| Medium | Moderate   | Balanced (0.2 x-- 10x)    | Moderate      |
| High   | Severe     | Enormous (0.0 x-- 1000x+) | Low           |
