

While LVL Music Academy's primary specialisation is in violin and cello, the academy also offers lessons in viola and piano, making it a genuinely comprehensive music school for families whose children have an interest in multiple instruments or who want to explore the wider world of classical music alongside their violin studies. Viola is a natural companion instrument for violin students, sharing the same technique and fingering system but offering a richer, deeper tonal palette. Students who learn both instruments develop greater musicianship and have more opportunities in ensemble and orchestral contexts. LVL's teaching team includes viola <https://padlet.com/kh472238tylnly/bookmarks-dz4zroh5rma4ftvn/wish/BJkrQAdAzWk4aEge> specialists who can guide students through the transition from violin to viola or the parallel study of both instruments. Piano studies at LVL complement violin learning by developing harmonic understanding, sight-reading skills, and the ability to appreciate music from a chordal perspective rather than a melodic one. Many of Singapore's leading music programmes encourage string students to also study piano, and LVL is well placed to provide both.
