

Principal Janice Senejani is the educational heart of LVL Music Academy. Her journey with the violin began at the age of six, and her career has encompassed performance at the highest levels of Singapore's classical music world, including membership of the Singapore National Youth Orchestra and representation of Singapore at prestigious international festivals, including one held in Aberdeen, Scotland. Janice's pedagogical approach, developed through decades of teaching at leading Singapore schools including MGS, PLMGS, and CHIJ, combines technical discipline with genuine encouragement and artistic sensitivity. She believes that every student has the potential to reach their musical goals with the right guidance, and her role at LVL includes personally matching each student with the teacher whose style and experience best suits their needs and aspirations. For families who are looking for not just a violin shop but a musical home where their child will be understood, nurtured, and challenged appropriately, Janice's involvement and leadership at LVL is a significant reassurance. Her professional credentials and personal warmth are consistently mentioned in the academy's reviews.
